Once there was a little boy who lived in the country. They had to use an outhouse, and the little boy hated it because it was hot in the summer, cold in the winter and stank all the time. The outhouse was sitting on the bank of a creek and the boy determined that one day he would push that outhouse in the creek. One day after a spring rain, the creek was swollen so the little boy decided today was the day to push the outhouse into the creek. So he got a large stick and started pushing. Finally, the outhouse toppled into the creek and floated away.

That night his dad told him they were going to the woodshed after supper. Knowing that meant a spanking, the little boy, asked why. The dad replied, "Someone pushed the outhouse into the creek today. It was you. Wasn't it, son?" The boy answered yes. Then he thought a moment and said, "Dad, I read in school today that George Washington chopped down a cherry tree and didn't get into trouble because he told the truth." The dad replied, "Well, son, George Washington's father wasn't in that cherry tree!"

Every Saturday morning an avid golfer had an early tee time. He would get up very early and golf all day long. One Saturday morning he got up early, dressed quietly, got his clubs out of the closet, and went out to his car to drive to the course. It was raining a torrential downpour. There was snow mixed with the rain and the wind was blowing 50 mph. He went back into the house and turned the TV to the weather channel and heard it was going to be bad weather all day long. So he put his clubs back into the closet, quietly undressed and slipped back into bed where he

As an atheist walked through the forest, he heard a rustling near the river. He wanted to investigate and a grizzly bear was tearing down the path towards him. The man took off, and when he got up the courage to look back he saw the bear was catching up fast. He tried to pick up the pace, but he tripped and crashed to the ground. As he tried to get up, the bear jumped on his chest and picked up one paw to whack him. The atheist screamed, "Oh my God!!!" Time stopped! The bear froze. The forest was silent. Even the river stopped moving. As a bright light shone upon the man, a voice boomed from the heavens,

"You deny my existence for all of these years and teach others I don't exist. Do you expect me to help you out now? Am I to count you as a believer?" The atheist said, "It would be hypocritical of me to suddenly ask you to treat me as a Christian, but perhaps could you make the bear a Christian?" The voice said, "Very well." The light went out, the river ran again, and the sounds of the forest resumed. Then the bear brought its paws together, bowed its head and spoke: "Lord, for this food which I am about to receive, I am truly thankful."

A little boy asked, "What is politics?" His dad said, "Let me try to explain it this way: I'm the breadwinner of the family, so let's call me Capitalism. Your Mom, she's the Administrator of the Money, so we'll call her the Government. We're here to take care of your needs, so we'll call you the People. The nanny, we'll consider her the Working Class. And your baby brother, we'll call him the Future."

The little boy went to bed thinking about what dad had said. Later that night, he heard his baby brother crying so he checked on him. The baby had a dirty diaper. The little boy, went to his parents' room and found his mother sound asleep. Not wanting to wake her, he went to the nanny's room. Finding the door locked, he peeked in the keyhole and saw his father in bed with the nanny. He gave up and went back to bed. The next morning he said to his father, "I think I understand politics." The father said, "Good, tell me in your own words what you think politics is all about." The little boy said, "While Capitalism is screwing the Working Class, the Government is sound asleep, the People are being ignored, and the Future is in deep poo."

An ASU fan used to amuse himself by scaring every U of A fan he saw strutting down the side of the road in their obnoxious school colors. He would swerve his van as if to hit them, and then he would swerve back on the road just before hitting them. One day, as the van driver was driving along, he saw a priest. He pulled over and asked the priest "Where are you going, Father?" The priest said, "I'm going to St. Joseph's Church, about five miles down the road." The van driver said, "I'll give you a lift." The priest climbed into the passenger seat, and the van continued down the road.

Suddenly, the driver saw a U of A fan strutting down the road, and instinctively, he swerved as if to hit him but as usual, just in time, he swerved back to the road, narrowly missing the guy. Even though he was certain he missed the guy, he still heard a loud "THUD." Not understanding where the noise came from, he glanced in his mirror, but he couldn't see anything. He then remembered the priest, and he turned to the priest and said, "I'm sorry Father. I almost hit that U of A fan." The priest replied, "That's OK, I got him with the door."

A drunk decides to go ice fishing. so he gathers his gear and goes walking around until he finds a big patch of ice. He heads into the center of the ice and begins to saw a hole. All of sudden, a loud booming voice comes out of the sky.

"You will find no fish under that ice." The drunk looks around, but sees no one. He starts sawing again. Once more, the voice speaks.

"As I said before, there are no fish under the ice."

The drunk looks all around, high and low, but cannot see a single soul. He picks up the saw and tries one more time to finish. Before he can even start cutting the huge voice interrupts.

"I have warned you three times now. There are no fish!"

The drunk is now flustered and somewhat scared, so he asks the voice, "How do you know there are no fish? Are you God trying to warn me?"

"No" the voice replied, "I am the manager of this hockey rink."

Compaq is considering changing the command, "Press Any Key" to "Press Return Key" because of the flood of calls asking where the "Any" key is.

AST technical support had a caller complaining that her mouse was hard to control with the dust cover on. The cover turned out to be the plastic bag the mouse was packaged in.

Another Compaq technician received a call from a man complaining that the system wouldn't read word processing files from his old diskettes. After troubleshooting for magnets and heat failed to diagnose the problem, it was found that the customer had labeled the diskettes, then rolled them into the typewriter to type the labels.

A Dell technician advised his customer to put his troubled floppy back in the drive and close the door. The customer asked the tech to hold on, and was heard putting the phone down, getting up and crossing the room to close the door to his room.

A man walking along a California beach was deep in prayer. All of a sudden he said out loud, "Lord grant me one wish." Suddenly the sky clouded above his head and in a booming voice the Lord said, "Because you have tried to be faithful to me in all ways, I will grant you one wish." The man said, "Build a bridge to Hawaii so I can drive over anytime I want."

The Lord said. "Your request is very materialistic. Think of the enormous challenges for that grand of undertaking. The supports required to reach the bottom of the Pacific! The concrete and steel it would take! I can do it, but it is hard for me to justify your desire for worldly things. Take a little more time and think of another wish, a wish you think would honor and glorify me."

The man thought about it for a long time. Finally he said, "Lord, I wish that I could understand women. I want to know how they feel inside, what they are thinking when given the silent treatment, why they cry, what they mean when they say 'nothing', and how I can make a woman truly happy"

The Lord replied, "You want two lanes or four lanes on that bridge?"

Two hunters went moose hunting every winter without success. Finally they came up with a foolproof plan. They got a very authentic cow moose costume and learned the mating call of a cow moose.

The plan was to hide in the costume, lure the bull, then come out of the costume and shoot the bull. They set themselves up on the edge of a clearing, donned their costume and began to give the moose love call.

Before long their call was answered as a bull came crashing out of the forest and into the clearing. When the bull was close enough, the guy in front said, "OK, lets get out and get him."

After a moment that seemed like an eternity, the guy in the back shouted, "The zipper is stuck! What are we going to do?"

The guy in the front says, "Well, I'm going to start nibbling grass, but you'd better brace yourself."

Keith comes home from an exhausting day at work, plops down on the couch in front of the television, and tells his wife. "Get me a beer before it starts."

The wife sighs and gets him a beer. Fifteen minutes later, he says, "Get me another beer before it starts."

She looks cross, but fetches another beer and slams it down next to him. He finishes that beer and a few minutes later says, "Quick, get me another beer, it's going to start any minute."

The wife is furious. She yells at him, "Is that all you're going to do tonight? Drink beer and sit in front of that TV? You're nothing but a lazy, drunken, fat slob, and furthermore..."

Keith sighs and says, "It's started."

A little girl was watching her parents dress for a New Year's Eve party. When she saw her dad donning his tuxedo, she warned, "Daddy, you shouldn't wear that suit." Her father asked, "And why not, darling?" The child replied, "You know that it always gives you a headache the next morning.

A guy named Bob receives a free ticket to the Super Bowl from his company. Unfortunately, when Bob arrives at the stadium he realizes the seat is in the last row in the corner of the stadium - he is closer to the Goodyear Blimp than the field. About half way through the first quarter, Bob notices an empty seat 10 rows off the field right on the 50 yard line. He decides to take a chance and makes his way through the stadium and around the security guards to the empty seat. As he sits down, he asks the gentleman sitting next to him, "Excuse me, is anyone sitting here?" The man says no. Now, he is excited to be in such a great seat for the game. Bob again inquires of the man next to him, "This is incredible! Who in their right mind would have a seat like this at the Super Bowl and not use it?" The man replies, "Well actually, the seat belongs to me, I was supposed to come with my wife, but she passed away. This is the first Super Bowl we haven't been to together since we got married in 1967." "Well, that's really sad," says Bob, "but still, couldn't you find someone to take the seat? A relative or a close friend?" "No," the man replies, they're all at the funeral."

During the wedding rehearsal the groom approached the pastor with an unusual offer. "Look, I'll give you $100 if you'll change the wedding vows. When you get to me and the part where I to promise to "love, honor and obey and forsaking all others, be faithful to her forever, I'd appreciate it if you'd just leave that part out." He passed the minister a $100 bill and walked away satisfied.

It is now the day of the wedding, and the bride and groom have moved to that part of the ceremony where the vows are exchanged. When it came time for the groom's vows, the pastor looks the young man in the eye and says: "Will you promise to prostrate yourself before her, obey her every command and wish, serve her breakfast in bed every morning of your life and swear eternally before God and your lovely wife that you will not ever even look at another woman, as long as you both shall live?" The groom gulped and looked around, and said in a tiny voice, "Yes."

The groom leaned toward the pastor and hissed, "I thought we had a deal." The pastor put the $100 bill into his hand and whispered back, "She made me a much better offer."

Six retired Floridians were playing poker in the condo clubhouse. Meyers seemed to be on a losing streak. Finally, he lost $500 on a single hand, clutched his chest and dropped dead at the table. Showing respect for their fallen comrade, the other five continued playing standing up.

Jones looked around and asked, "So, who's going to tell the wife'?"

They drew straws. Smith picked the short one. They told him to be discreet and gentle and not make a bad situation any worse.

"Discreet? I'm the most discreet man you will ever meet. Discretion is my middle name, leave it to me," said Smith.

So, he went over to the Meyers apartment and knocked on the door. The wife answered and asked what he wanted.

Smith declared, "Your husband just lost $500, and is afraid to come home."

"TELL HIM HE SHOULD DROP DEAD!" she yelled.

"I'll go tell him." said Smith.

A New Yorker was forced to take a day off from work to appear for a minor traffic summons. He grew increasingly restless as he waited hour after endless hour for his case to be heard. When his name was called late in the afternoon, he stood before the judge, only to hear that court would be adjourned for the rest of the afternoon and he would have to return the next day.

"What the ~%! tbr°!~" he snapped at the judge.

His honor, equally irked by a tedious day and sharp query, roared out loud: "Twenty dollars contempt of court! That's why!"

Then, noticing the man checking his wallet, the judge relented: "That's all right. You don't have to pay now."

The young man replied, "I know, but I'm just seeing if I have enough for two more words."

Q: Why do they call it a "roach clip"?

A: Because "pot holder" was already taken.

A man is flying in a hot air balloon and realizes he is lost. He reduces his height and spots a man down below. He lowers the balloon further and shouts: "Excuse me, can you tell me where I am?"

The man below says: "Yes you're in a hot air balloon, hovering 30 feet above this field."

"You must work in Information Technology," says the balloonist.

"I do," replies the man. "How did you know?"

"Well," says the balloonist, "Everything you have told me is technically correct, but it's of no use to anyone."

The man below says, "You must work in management" "I do," replies the balloonist, "but how did you know?"

"Well", says the man, "You don't know where you are, or where you're going, but you expect me to be able to help; and you're in the same position as you were before we met, but now it's my fault!"

Q: What's the last thing a redneck says before he dies?

Why God Created Eve

God was worried that Adam would frequently become lost in the garden because he would not ask for directions.

God knew that one day Adam would require someone to locate and hand him the remote.

God knew Adam would never go out and buy himself a new fig leaf when his wore out and would therefore need Eve to buy one for him.

God knew Adam would never be able to make a doctor's, dentist's or haircut appointment by himself.

God knew Adam would never remember which night to put the garbage on the curb.

God knew if the world was to be populated, men would never be able to handle the pain and discomfort of childbearing.

As the Keeper of the Garden, Adam would never remember where he left his tools.

As the Bible says, "It is not good for man to be alone."

When God finished the creation of Adam, He stepped back, scratched his head, and said, "I can do better than that."

A doctor, a lawyer, a little boy and a priest were out for a Sunday afternoon flight on a small private plane. Suddenly the plane developed engine trouble. In spite of the best efforts of the pilot, the plane started to go down. Finally the pilot grabbed a parachute, yelled to the passengers that they had better jump, and bailed out. Unfortunately, there were only three parachutes remaining.

The doctor grabbed one and said, "I'm a doctor, I save lives, so I must live." and jumped out.

The lawyer then said, "I am the smartest man in the world, I deserve to live!" He grabbed a parachute and jumped.

The priest looked at the little boy and said, "My son, I've lived a long and full life. You are young and have your whole life ahead of you. Take the last parachute and live in peace."

The little boy handed the parachute back to the priest and said, "Not to worry, Father. The smartest man in the world just took off with my backpack."

The teacher said It was physically impossible for a whale to swallow a human because even though it was a very large mammal, its throat was very small The little girl stated that Jonah was swallowed by a whale. Irritated, the teacher reiterated that a whale could not swallow a human; it was physically impossible.

The little girl said, "When I get to heaven I will ask Jonah."

The teacher asked, "What if Jonah went to hell?"

The little girl replied, "Then you ask him."

A Kindergarten teacher was observing her classroom of children while they drew. She would occasionally walk around to see each child's work. As she got to one little girl who was working diligently, she asked what the drawing was?

And what about you, dear?” The nurse said, “I’ve supported the good doctor and his patients my entire life as an adult.” St. Peter replied, “Wonderful. Please proceed in with the doctor.

And what about you?” The HMO director said, “I was the president of a very large HMO and was responsible for the healthcare of millions of people all over the country.”

St. Peter said, “Oh, I see. Please go in, but you can only stay two nights!”

A man who reeked of alcohol flopped on a subway seat next to a priest. The man’s tie was stained, his face was plastered with red lipstick, and a half empty bottle of rum was sticking out of his ripped jacket pocket. He opened his newspaper and started reading. After a few minutes, the disheveled guy turned to the priest and asked “Say, Father, do you know what causes arthritis?”

The priest, disgusted by the man’s appearance and behavior snapped, “It’s caused by loose living, being with cheap, wicked women, too much alcohol, and a contempt for your fellow man!”

“Well, I’ll be,” the man muttered and returned to his newspaper.

The priest, thinking about what he had said, nudged the man and apologized, “I’m sorry to have come on so strong. I didn’t mean it. How long have you been suffering from arthritis?”

“I don’t have it, Father. I was just reading here that the Pope does.”

Bewildered he went to the kitchen and said, "I think this guy's in the wrong place, look at what he ordered!"

The cook said, "He wants three pancakes and two eggs sunny side up."

The waiter took a bowl of beans to the trucker the trucker said, "What's this'? I didn't order this!"

The waiter said, "The cook said that while you're waiting for your parts you might as well gas up."

A truck driver was driving along on the freeway. He passed a sign that said, "Low bridge ahead" Before he knew it, the bridge was right ahead of him and he got stuck under the bridge. You could say that he got a rock solid "Trucker's Wedgie".

Cars were backed up for miles. Finally, a police car pulled up. The cop got out of his car and walked around to the truck driver, put his hands on his hips and said, "Got stuck, huh?"

The truck driver said, "No officer, I was delivering this bridge and ran out of gas!"

A man was speeding down the highway, feeling secure in a gaggle of cars all traveling at the same speed. However, as they passed a speed trap, he got nailed with an infrared speed detector and was pulled over.

The officer handed him the citation, received his signature, and was about to walk away when the man asked, "Officer, I know I was speeding, but I don't think it's fair - there were plenty of other cars around me who were going just as fast. So why did I get the ticket?"

"Ever go fishing?" the policeman suddenly asked the man.

"Urmnm, yeah..." the startled man replied.

The officer grinned and added, "Ever catch "all" the fish?"

Bumper Snickers

Watch out for the idiot behind me.

I intend to live forever. So far, so good.

Be nice to your children - they choose your nursing home.

A truck driver stopped at a roadside diner for lunch, and ordered a cheeseburger, coffee, and a slice of apple pie. As he was about to eat, three motorcycles pulled up outside. The bikers came in and one grabbed the trucker's cheeseburger out of his hand and took a huge bite from it. The second one drank the truck-er's coffee, and the third wolfed down his apple pie. The truck driver didn't say a word. He simply got up, paid the cashier, and left.

When he was gone, the motorcyclists snickered to one another and congratulated each other on being so "bad" As the cashier walked up, one of the motorcyclists growled, "He ain't much of a man is he?"

"He's not much of a driver, either," the cashier replied. "He just backed his 18-wheeler over three motorcycles."

A little girl and a little boy were at daycare.

It was the first day of school and a new student, the son of a Japanese businessman, entered the fourth grade. The teacher greeted the class and said, "Let's begin by reviewing some American history."

Who said "Give me Liberty or give me death?" She saw only a sea of blank-faces, except for that of Toshiba, who had his hand up "Patrick Henry, 1775," said the boy.

"Now," said the teacher. "Who said, "Government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth?"

Again no response except from Toshiba: "Abraham Lincoln, 1863"

The teacher snapped at the class. "You should be ashamed. Toshiba, who is new to our country knows more about it than you do."

As she turned to write something on the blackboard, she heard a loud whisper: "Damned Japanese"

"Who said that?" she demanded.

Toshiba put his hand up, "Lee Iacocca, 1982," he said.
